

LESSON

8 Affection Lure

- Many kids are slowly lured into sexual abuse by someone they already know and trust, like a relative, peer or babysitter.
- It's an act of Fake Love to cross the line from affection to abuse.
- All adults know it's a _____ to sexually abuse a child.

For My Safety:

1. I will try to stop anyone who attempts to abuse me, including family and peers.
2. Kids who have been abused need help, and so do the people who abuse them.
3. If abused, even by someone I know and love, I will try to be brave and report it to a trusted adult so I can feel safe again.

Prevention TIP

The Affection Lure can be hard to detect. It may not feel like we're being lured at all.

True or False? (Circle answer)

Most children are abused by someone they know and trust.

LESSON

9 Assistance Lure

- Asking for or offering help can be a trick to talk with kids or get close to them.

For My Safety:

1. I will always check with a parent or guardian before lending or accepting a helping hand.
2. If someone in a car tries to talk to me, I will:
 - Not respond.
 - Pretend not to hear.
 - Take three giant steps back and walk quickly in the _____ direction.
 - Be ready to run like the wind, if necessary.
 - Report the incident immediately.
3. I will always get permission before going anywhere with anyone.

Prevention TIP

If I ever need help in public, I will choose a safe adult like a Mom or Dad with kids, a store employee behind a counter, or a uniformed police officer in a marked car.

True or False? (Circle answer)

Adults should ask other adults for help, NOT children!
